

Assignment 3 "Hero"

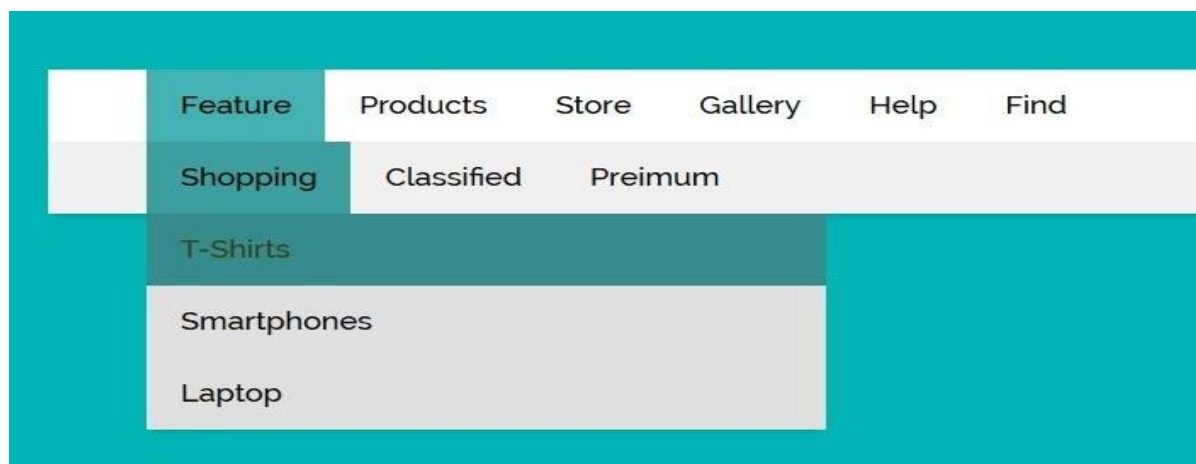

Description of site design

First of all, I would like to highlight the palette I chose. Below, you can see a colours for the "light" and "dark" themes. (please don't look at their names:)

:root{
  --main: #ececec;
  --orange: #c755ed;
  --sOrange: #be35b7;
  --black: #05050d;
  --blue: #470bee;
  --second: hsla(186, 23%, 82%, 0.98);
  --itemBgS: #ddd8d6;
  --itemBg: #e2e2e6;

As you might see, I mainly used cold colours, which, in my opinion, were the best choice.

The next thing that you will notice after you open my site is that I did not use a regular navigation system like other sites.

Instead, I made one “grid” element on the “home page,” which I use as the main navigation through the site, and for other pages, I made a menu (by using HTML, CSS, and JS).

Generally, that was everything that was worth enough to mention here.

Research

Here I would like to show you where I took information about all JS that I used in this project.

First, it is "How to create modal Box":

https://www.w3schools.com/howto/howto_css_modals.asp

How to create a "theme switcher" in this case I googled how to create a switcher; the JS part, I created by myself after learning how the modal window works, except for the part where I use local storage because I didn't know how to do it. I asked about this in the chat GPT:

Everything else was made by me.
